

1st Six Weeks: Beginning Acting Project

Who am I?

Assignment

Students are to create a one to two minute presentation that shows the class an inside look at who they are as a person. They have been given the freedom to create a project of their choice that best represents their talents and special skills. Examples of project ideas include a scrapbook, a sculpture, a drawing, an Animoto or Photostory video, a power point presentation, or a public performance of an original song.

Objective

Students will share with the class different aspects of their life that help shape their perspective of the world. As we learn to respect and appreciate others, despite our differences, we can create a positive learning environment.

Grading

Students will be graded based on their effort, creativity, and presentation.
